Concerts

As of now, concerts are on hold for the year. Should things change I will communicate dates and expectations.

Communication

I value open communication between parent, child, and teacher. Throughout the course of the year I will communicate via email, Schoology, newsletters, my website, and Twitter. I encourage parents to contact me with any questions or concerns via phone or email.

Please bookmark my website <https://linevillechoir.weebly.com> I strive to post up-to-date and relevant information.

Everything a parent needs to know (and more) can be found on my website. I also ask that you please read any emails that I send out. For some families this may be more information than they feel is necessary, but for other families all of the details are critical. It is not my intent to burden you with unnecessary information, but rather to make sure that each family feels as informed as possible.

Choir T-shirts

In the past choir t-shirts have been ordered for students to wear to our performances. With concerts being on hold, I am going to hold off on ordering t-shirts for this year.
